

A More Productive New Year's Resolution

As many begin making their New Year's resolutions, you may be asking yourself why we go through this sometimes meaningless ritual each new year. Making New Year's resolutions spans back to 153 B.C. when Janus, a Roman god of beginnings and endings, was placed at the head of the calendar. A god with two faces, Janus could look forward and backward at the same time. Our resolutions are often based on that principle. We look at the way things have been and resolve to make changes for the future. Why, then, do statistics show that 88 out of 100 people abandon their goals?¹ Often, we do not decide on specific, measurable activities. Twig Solutions can help you get clear on your vision and twig a program that ensures success.

Does your desktop reflect your vision for your business? Take the free assessment "The Disorganized Desk Test" at twigsolutions.com to see where you stand. Together we will twig an action file and a system that is guaranteed to get your desk in order and keep it that way.

Do you want to make better use of the time you spend? The free "Time Management Checklist" at twigsolutions.com offers tips you can use.

Twig Solutions is dedicated to helping you increase your productivity and effectiveness this year. We guarantee measurable results as we twig a system for you and your business that gets your time, space, and information organized. Contact Martha at martha@twigsolutions.com. We grow productivity.

¹ Human Quirk Index